

No! Education is the key. Study the chart before you leave port. Ask for a thorough explanation with regards to starting & running your boats motor. If you are apprehensive about docking & maneuvering we can show you how to do that as well. Just use your common sense & you will be fine. Always let some one know where you are going & when you plan to be back.