

To navigate around here all you need is a good pair of eyeballs. They will get you from point A to point B (see above) as well as tell you how deep the waters are. GPS is convenient but not necessary.